

Occupational Risk Prevention Policy

At Brugarolas we are convinced that protecting the health of all workers, both our own and those of our collaborating companies, is fundamental and strategic. It is for this reason, the company assigns the highest priority to their protection and consequently, focuses on providing a safe and healthy workplace.

In order to adopt and incorporate the above, Brugarolas applies in its system the philosophy of continuous improvement in working conditions and has implemented an occupational risk prevention policy based on the following principles:

Design our products and processes assessing safety and minimizing health risk, making available to workers all the required collective and individual protective equipment and ensuring its correct use.

Promote the motivation and participation of all company personnel, guaranteeing the employees' rights to consultation and participation.

Identify and keep under control all activities, processes, products and services that may affect safety.

Train workers to act in case of emergency and provide the company with all required fire fighting equipment.

Inform workers about the possible risks associated with their workplace, such as physical, chemical, ergonomic, biological, mechanical, psychosocial and environmental risk in order to prevent accidents or occupational diseases.

Provide the material and human resources necessary to carry out this policy, as well as the appropriate training to employees in all matters relating to safety and occupational risk prevention.

Manage accidents and incidents and propose corrective measures in safety matters in order to achieve the absence of accidents in all processes and activities carried out by Brugarolas.

This Risk Prevention Policy is signed by the General Management and approved by the Health and Safety Committee, and will be disseminated to all interested parties, in order to be understood and applied.
